Here it is the end of February, Punxsutawney Phil saw his shadow, and as I look out my window, I can see the cold in the air with the snow falling. Many of our members have gone to warmer destinations, while others are entrenched in their business and livelihoods. Nothing much is occurring. We are in our hibernation mode. So it is safe to assume that many of you think there is nothing going on at the Chamber outside of our monthly meetings. Well..... to the contrary.

For instance, did you know:

That Ned Piccinini is lining up guest speakers for our upcoming meetings?

That Tom Bommarito and his vision committee are coming up with recommendations for the future of the Chamber?

That Joe Toia and his committee have announced this year's guidelines for the scholarship awards?

That Joe Ventimiglia is making sure that our members' dues are being paid in a timely manner?

That Tony DeLuca is making sure that our finances are kept in order?

That Sam Ventimiglia and the Past Presidents Council are meeting to give advisory recommendations to the Board?

That Paul Calcaterra is not only writing a column for this issue, but puts together our agendas for our monthly meetings?

That Steve Militello is working diligently to get sponsors and to meet the deadline to put out the Grapevine?

That Andy Agosta has already started planning this year's IACC Golf Outing to be held on June 30th?

CHAIRMAN'S CORNER

Thoughts for the month

Chi rispetta rispettato sarà ...which means: One who respects others will be respected by everyone.

Respect is what we should have for others in all aspects of our lives. In business we must respect the desires our clients have, even though it may not be the best choice in the products or services we have to offer. It is our duty, however, to explain all of their options and leave their decisions up to them. Socially, women and men each have their own goals and methods of achieving them. Show respect even though you may not agree. Everyone has their religious beliefs. It is important to realize this and still maintain the friendship. In the family as a parent, our children and grandchildren may not make the best choices in life, but we respectfully must guide them in the right direction.

As a husband or wife, we may have had an extremely difficult day, and when you get home you discover that your partner's day has also been trying. Respect for each others feelings must be expressed in order to have a meaningful relationship. On a personal note, it is most important that we respect ourselves in the way we lead our lives and the decisions we make regarding those around us. Next to being loved, being respected would be one of our greatest accomplishments in life.

Respectfully,

Paul R. Calcaterra
2008 Chairman of the Board

MOTIVATIONAL MOMENTS

By William A. Morelli, Sr.

Hopefully, by the time you get this, we will be enjoying the beginning of Spring and the return of warm weather. I still have a hard time worrying about "Global Warming" when I am walking my dog and there is a wind chill factor of 5 degrees or lower and I am about to freeze my butt off.

However, with the advent of the Easter Season, I remember why we are celebrating the greatest gift ever given to the world and the promise of a better life to come – and I am not referring to the upcoming election.

As we look forward, the following quotes may be of some inspiration to us all

- Kindness: "You cannot do a kindness too soon, for you never know how soon it will be too late."
Ralph Waldo Emerson
- Generosity: "If you have no charity, you have the worst kind of heart trouble." Bob Hope
- Simple Pleasures: "It isn't the big pleasures that count the most; it's making a deal out of the little ones."
Jean Webster
- Attitude: "The pessimist sees difficulty in every opportunity; the optimist sees opportunity in every difficulty." L.P. Jacks
- Marriage: "Love does not consist in gazing at each other, but in looking together in the same direction." Antione deSaint-Exupery
- Parenting: "In the final analysis it is not what you do for your children but what you have taught them to do for themselves that will make them successful human beings." Ann Landers

Last – but not least: In Italy for thirty years under the Borgais they had warfare, terrorism, murder, bloodshed, but they produced Michelangelo, Leonardo da Vinci, and the Renaissance. In Switzerland they had brotherly love, they had five hundred years of democracy and peace. And what did they produce? The cuckoo-clock." Orson Wells

As you enjoy the return of warmer weather and the Easter Season, remember to share you with those around you – Smile. Give Hugs. Tell someone special you Love Them.

Remembering Our Friend...

The members of the Italian American Chamber of Commerce are saddened by the passing of a long time active and loyal member of our organization. Martin "Reno" Garagiola passed on December 24, 2007. Among his many attributes of concern & pride of the Italian community, he was extremely appreciated for the work he has done for the "Chamber". A great deal of his time and endless effort was spent in coordinating the membership committee. He saw to it that each new membership application was properly processed. He then would see to it that all the necessary documents, name tags, & pins were presented at the time of the swearing in.

I guess one of our fondest images of Reno is him standing with each new member with his right hand held high and repeating aloud the oath. Many of us would say "There goes Reno getting sworn in again."

We are an organization of strong friendships and camaraderie and when one of our members are ill or died we all feel it.

"We will miss you, "Reno"

Respectfully

Paul R. Calcaterra (Chairman of the Board)

Notes from the President

That Mike Tenaglia is spearheading a membership drive until the end of April– 18 months for the price of 12, and mentoring program for children ages 14-20?

That Val Poliuto is always coming up with ways to surpass the previous month's 50-50 raffle money giveaway?

That Mike Locricchio is in the process of updating our by-laws?

That Vito Pianello is putting together a new membership directory, along with a membership card and membership services to be out in June?

That Joe Bellanca and his co-chair Tom Carmagno of the Festa Della Lira have already secured the license and are planning this year's event to be held on May 21st?

That Mike Catenacci and Dave Galli are working endlessly to put on our first ever Festa Del Vino Charity Event – a wine and dinner event - to be held on April 19th?

In case you haven't caught on by now, each of the gentlemen mentioned above have been elected by you to serve on the IACC Board of Directors. As I indicated at our January Installation of Officers dinner, this Board is very assertive, passionate and dedicated in what they do.

Right now, I am presently coordinating with the Consul of Italy and the President of the Italian American Alliance of Business and Technology (IAABT) for a joint gathering at our June general membership meeting. IAABT is a group of Italian industrial companies who do business in the United States, and industrial companies here who are doing business in Italy.

As I mentioned earlier, on Saturday, April 19th, the Chamber will be hosting its first ever charity event with the proceeds going to the Boys Town of Italy. One of our past presidents, Angelo Lanni, is the Michigan chairperson for this national organization, and is the honorary chairman for our event. Since it will be springtime and most everybody will be returning home for the summer and people will be popping out again, why don't we make this event sort of a "Welcome Back to the Chamber Night"? What a great way to get reacquainted with friends and guests. For those of you who feel we do not have much to offer or we are just a social club and rarely participate, I invite you to take another look. To those who come around once in awhile, I would hope to see you more often, and for those that do interact by attending and serving on committees on a regular basis, I thank you and appreciate your contribution. If you have any interest in giving a little bit of your time and serve on a committee, just call our office at 586-493-4034.
